

BE VIGILANT.
Boston Journal.—The American yacht has won the cup, now let the American party win the election.

CANNOT BE IMPROVED ON.
Hardscore.—There are things in the world upon which there has never been any improvement—the wheelbarrow and kissing.

WAITING FOR WORD FROM WASHINGTON.
Philadelphia Record.—Iron, steel, glass and textile mills and factories, which have been able to start up in various parts of the country. If the Senate should but give the word there would be a general resumption such as that which followed the business slump of 1884. All the country desires to know is whether or not an invested capital will find its way back again to the hand of the investor with an undiminished purchasing capacity.

ELOQUENCE OVER VIGILANT'S VICTORY.
Philadelphia Press.—The hand of the American shipwrights has lost its cunning, and the fingers of the Abner's sailor can still touch a tiller to such purpose as no other seafaring hand can equal. On sea forerests empire, and in peace or in war this land, throne between the oceans, is served as no other in the world around. As our acres fill and our factories multiply a great marine expansion is sure to come. Already it is near. We left the ocean supreme. We will return to it without an equal.

DRAINING THE TREASURY OF GOLD.
New York World.—Now that the artificial support of speculative gold in stocks is withdrawn the Treasury's stock of gold is again steadily diminishing. It is now less than ever before, having sunk $1,000,000 below the minimum of June. It goes down under the continued drain created by the operation of the Silver Purchase law, and if that law is left in force, either in its present or somewhat modified, the deflection must continue until the Treasury's supply shall be completely exhausted. Then will come enforced silver payments, a lapse to the silver dollar standard, an enormous change in values and a ruinous contraction of the currency. The effort to force a vote in the Senate has come none too soon.

JOE BLACKBURN TOUCHED UP.
Judge Finley in the Louisville Sunday Bee.—Senator Joe Blackburn has not failed to the extent in which he has been held in Kentucky by his action upon the silver question. In fact it is doubtful if Senator Blackburn has ever done very much to merit the applause of his state. He secured the appointment of his brother to the Marshals of the state, but if he ever did anything for anyone else, it has not been made very apparent. His only recent appearance in legislation has been as an obstructionist against a measure which at least nine out of every ten Kentuckians believed should be adopted. Will the state remember this when the next election comes around?

ROTHSCHILD'S MAXIMS.
Agenda Priemonta.—The elder Baron Rothschild had the walls of his bank placarded with the following curious maxims:
Carefully examine every detail of your business.
Be prompt in everything.
Take time to consider, but decide positively.
Dare to go forward.
Bear troubles patiently.
Be brave in the struggle of life.
Maintain your integrity as a sacred thing.
Never let anybody cheat you.
Never be discouraged.
Then work hard and you will be certain to succeed.

A LAW-ABIDING PEOPLE.
Baltimore American.—The conviction of Emma Goldman, the Anarchist, of attempting to excite others, among whom she was regarded as a leader, to deeds of violence, should prove to Anarchists everywhere that Americans are law-abiding people. The plea that mercy should be shown because she is a woman could have no effect on the jury. In fact, it made the case against her all the stronger, as it gave her even a greater power over her excited audiences than any man could have gained. In open court she declared that she believed in neither the laws of God nor the laws of man. To her belief she had a right, but when she carries that belief to the extent of urging men to rob and plunder, she renders herself liable to arrest, and it is the law's duty to show her that it is supreme. Under the law she has made herself liable to a heavy fine or a year in prison. Her fate should teach her followers a lesson. They may not believe in law, but they cannot violate it without suffering the consequence.

When this remedy is taken as soon as a cold has been contracted, and before it has become settled in the system, it will counteract the effect of the cold and greatly lessen its severity, and it is the only remedy that will do so.

It acts in perfect harmony with Nature and aids Nature in relieving the lungs, opening the secretions, liquefying the mucus and causing its expulsion from the air cells of the lungs and restoring the system to a strong and healthy condition. No other remedy in the market produces such desirable and permanent results. No other will cure a cold so quickly. For sale by Power & Reynolds.

The Business Way!

The business way to advertise is to take space by the year, take pains with your advertisements in making them attractive, and change them at least as often as once a month. You may think there are seasons when you don't need to advertise. We have never seen that time. Use the dull seasons for looking over your stock and running off that which is becoming out of style or unfashionable, and giving bargains. If you have space by the year, it costs you no more, and you can make it profitable by converting unsalable goods into money, and reinvesting the money in those things which are salable.

SENATORIAL CONVENTION.

The Republicans of the Senatorial District composed of the counties of Mason and Lewis will meet in convention at the Courthouse in Mayville on Friday, October 20, 1900, at 10 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of nominating a candidate for the State Senate. Each county will be entitled to one vote for every one hundred votes cast for Harrison in 1892.

Where is That Banner Now?

Greenberg (Ind.) Review—During the last campaign the Democrats of this city displayed a banner in their processions bearing this inscription:

VOTE FOR GROVER CLEVELAND AND STAY AT HOME
FOR YOUR WEALTH.

A liberal reward will be paid for that banner at this office, and no questions asked.

The recent figures furnished by the Census Office regarding children under 10 years of age show us that there were 1,065,000 whites, 825,000 natives, 375,000 whites of foreign birth, 215,000 colored.

It is interesting to compare these figures with the population at the previous census of 1890 between the ages of 20 and 44 years; for the children under 10 years of age at the recent census would represent the offspring from the population between 20 and 44 years of age at the previous census, and if we compare the figures in this way we find that for every 100 native whites between 20 and 44 years of age at the census of 1890 there are 73 native whites of native parents less than 10 years of age at the census of 1900. On the other hand, however, we find that for every 100 foreign born whites at the census of 1890 there are 108 native whites of foreign parents under 10 years of age at the census of 1900. This figure, 108, is a trifle high for purposes of comparison, because among the children of foreign parents are included those having one or both parents foreign born. Some of these children, are, to a certain extent, of native parentage. Still, the proportion having this mixture of native and foreign parents would not exceed 15 per cent., one-half of which should be deducted from the above figures, leaving us a net result of about 100 children under 10 years of age for every 100 of foreign population, as against 80 children per 100 of native population. This, it will be seen, shows a rapid relative increase of the children of foreign parents. The experiences of previous censuses unfortunately cannot be determined, due to the fact that in no census prior to that of 1890 has the distinction been made between the native of native parents and the native of foreign parents in tabulations of our population. Were such a distinction possible, however, a comparison of the ratio of increase which we have just given with those of previous census would be exceedingly interesting and valuable. As it is, the figures indicate a relative gain in our foreign element much more rapid than that of our native element.

A comparison of like figures for the colored population is also exceedingly interesting, for this shows that for every 100 of total colored population between 20 and 44 years of age at the census of 1890 we now find, with the census of 1890, 96 colored children less than 10 years of age.

HIS HARD LUCK.
A valuable ice man that had a hoodoo in it somewhere. The man with the negligee shirt was talking of hard luck, says the Buffalo Express, "It's just this way. I've had 'em. When things get to going against you there's no stopping them. Luck and hard luck run in streaks with every man, and when things get to coming your way there's no stopping them any more than there is when they get to going against you."

"An illustration let me tell you of an experience I had. About three years ago I began to have hard luck. I lost everything I had one year or another, and got into all sorts of trouble. Finally I landed in Richmond, Va., stone broke, without a friend to whom I could apply for aid and nothing ahead of me but a turn on the roads as a tramp. I could get nothing to do in Richmond, and I started out to tramp up north."

"It was as hot as Tophet. I tramped along day after day, sleeping on the ground and stealing what I had to eat, which was not much, let alone any money. One day I struck Stony Creek, which is in a wild part of the state. I followed up along the creek until I reached Stony Mountain, and there I made a discovery. I found an ice mine. It was fully an acre in extent and the ice was as clear as crystal. I realized that the piece of good luck I was taking my bearings carefully I made my way back to Richmond."

"It didn't take me long to get some capitalists interested in the mine, and we formed a stock company with me as president, to work the ice the next summer. It looked as if I had a fortune in my grasp."

"Early the next summer we started to work it, but my hard luck came toddling along and did me up. There wasn't a shaft that sunk, and then we didn't have frost, and there was absolutely no demand for ice. That left me stranded again and in worse shape than before."

"I don't see why," put in the doubting Thomas, who were a broad-brimmed straw hat. Why didn't you wait and work it the next summer?"

"I told you I was in hard luck, didn't I?" said the man with the negligee shirt, severely. "Well, I was. Although the summer was very dry, and there was so warm that it melted every blamed bit of the ice and left nothing but a pool of water there, which was of no earthly use to anybody."

FAULTS OF OUR HOTELS.

Foreigners Complain That the Bread, Soup, Tea and Coffee Are Poor. Herr Freytag, a chef at the Russian embassy in London, says that for thirty years, and afterward the proprietor of the Hotel des Bains Britanniques in that city, told me, says a writer in the North American, that a good bread, good soup, good bread and good tea and coffee were the foundations for an acceptable hotel, and he was right. As a rule, the American hotel is a failure in respect to all of these essentials. It is true, there are more good beds now than there were 50 years ago, but neither the tea, coffee, soup nor bread has improved; if anything, they are worse than thirty years ago. The bread, more pretentious, i. e., attempts at "style" at the expense of all comforts, which have been banished from the average American machine hotel. Caponi, the French tenor, in one of his published letters about America, said: "This is a wonderful country, with the loftiest mountains, the grandest rivers and the largest lakes, but without a soup." Fifty years ago Judge Grinnick, a noted holder of circuit courts in South Carolina, ordered tea at a backwoods hotel; shortly after it was served he sent for the landlady, and, addressing her, he said: "Landam, if this be coffee bring me fee, and if this be coffee bring me fee." This command could, with propriety, be given in native land, and convinces the native that he is not being swindled.

THE STRUGGLE IN THE SENATE FOR THE SILENT LAW REPEAL.

Washington, Oct. 18.—In statu quo. This is the situation Tuesday. No change is perceptible from the situation of a week ago, except continuous session have proven a failure and an adjournment to December is possible.

The repeal democrats in the senate have been checked by the opponents of their compromise efforts. They have been told to stop all compromise work. Fearing a veto or the displeasure of the chief executive, they are just now saying little, hoping that the proceedings of each day will develop a vote upon which they will be able to win a compromise. When compromise is laid aside, conditional repeal of course, looks brighter.

Who will profess friendship for the bill as it stands would register a solemn promise to support no compromise and stop all talk upon the subject, it is the belief of the specialists that success would be assured, for four full months may be devoted to wearing away the silver senators, and there must be an all-out effort.

Compromise talk dissipates all hope of unconditional success, and the specialists, rendering the greatest services in inducing his supporters to stand firm. The republican repeal senators will, they give, condemn no compromise and will vote for none. They, above all others, can be immovably resolute. They will not care, either, if the question remains unsettled while the November elections are taking place. The people can then reflect in a degree at least, their opinion upon the subject. It looks as though there would be no material change in the situation under some days yet.

Awaiting Bank Tax Repeal.
Philadelphia, Oct. 18.—"Insiders" are authority for the statement that if congress repeals the tax on state bank notes, Messrs. Widener & Elmer, of the Pennsylvania Railroad Railway syndicate, will start a bank with $10,000,000 capital. It would be the financial agency for the New York, Chicago, Philadelphia and Baltimore schemes of these men. They now own the People's Bank and the enterprise would be built upon that. Chicago and New York would be interested in the venture.

A Week On the F. Wayne Road.
Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 18.—A heavy freight train the Fort Wayne road parted and came together again at Beaver Falls, Pa., at 5 o'clock Tuesday morning, and twelve cars of corn, lime, lumber and sand were totally wrecked. The depot shed, platform and telegraph station were demolished and Operator Elmer Lyons, of Rochester, badly injured. Two trains, one containing a ride on the freight, are supposed to be buried under the debris. Both trains are blocked.

Marshall McMahon Dead.
Paris, Oct. 18.—Marshall McMahon died at ten o'clock Tuesday morning at Chateau la Foret, on the Loire. He was a native of New York, and a member of the French Legion of Honor. During the night the sufferer's strength gradually declined, and he grew weaker and weaker until the end came peacefully at the age of 75 years. The family of the deceased soldier were present at his death.

A Bangtail Comet.
Geneva, Oct. 18.—Prof. Brooks, director of the Smith observatory, discovered a fine new comet comet early Tuesday morning. Its position is right ascension 10 hours 40 minutes, declination north 12 degrees and 5 minutes, slanting in a northerly direction. The comet is bright with a short tail. This is the nineteenth comet discovered by Prof. Brooks.

Justice was in the woods shooting sheep, and it is supposed a ball from his rifle was the cause of the accidental killing.

A Wreck Smasher.
Washington, Oct. 18.—The dynamite carrier Vesuvius, which put in at Lewes, Del., a few days ago and smashed the severe storms prevailing, expected to leave that place Tuesday to continue her work of destroying wrecks along the coast. A Highly Expensive Dinner.

Terrible Early Morning Accident at Wellsville, O.

Two Lives Go Out and a Number of Others Badly Mangled.

A Train Running on a Foreign Track Because of a Wreck Meets With a Similar Accident—The Victims Employees of the Road.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 18.—An accident on the Erie Railroad at Wellsville, O., Tuesday morning at 6:15 resulted in the death of the entire crew and fatal injuries to the three men who occupied the baggage and express car.

The dead are Caruthers, engineer, at Wellsville; Robert Jackson, engineer, at Leavittsville; Allegheny, Elmer Jackson, his son, fireman, 251 Locust street, Allegheny.

The injured are: Baggage-master Alex. Traver, Electrician Robert Perry, Electrician Robert Fowler. Fragments in Allegheny and the electricians are said to reside in Chicago.

A freight collision at Beaver Falls had blocked the main line of the Pittsburgh & Wayne railroad, necessitating a detour over the Cleveland & Pittsburgh from Alliance.

The limited was making the run around, and Caruthers, who was a regular engineer on the Cleveland & Pittsburgh railroad, was acting as pilot for Jackson, the limited engineer. Along the route there had been the most dense experienced in many years, and it was impossible to signal lights in any distance, while the atmosphere could not be distinguished at all.

An engine with several freight cars had been backing the main line of the Erie Railroad for some time, and yards and was crossing the main tracks when the limited crashed into it. It is presumed that the signals were all right, but that the driver of the freight train could not see them on account of the density of the atmosphere.

Caruthers was killed outright, and young Jackson died a few minutes later, the death of his father being reported at nine o'clock. None of the passengers on the limited were injured, according to reports from headquarters, and the damage to property is slight. The baggage car and engine were demolished, and the freight cars were in charge of the electric lights on the train.

Forests Devoured By Fire.
Houston, Tex., Oct. 18.—Reports from East Texas say that a large pine timber, reaching from Montgomery county toward the Sabine river, is a mass of flames. The whole country is dry, and unless rain falls it is feared the loss to the yellow pine section of Texas will run into the millions. Several fine millings have been cut in the path of the fire. The wind is nearly from the east, and is strong enough to keep the flames from spreading.

Efforts to Save Rio.
New York, Oct. 18.—The World's Montevideo dispatch says: The Brazilian government has ordered the fleet to draw all of its guns from Morro Castle, San Bento, Conceicao, Laceration and Rio Vista on assurance by representatives of foreign powers that they will not permit the bombardment of the city of Rio de Janeiro, the shore line to be garrisoned as before. Nicaragua is constantly threatened.

Business Embarrassments.
Eau Claire, Wis., Oct. 18.—The Eau Claire Paper and Paper Co., whose paid-up capital stock is $100,000, has been placed in the hands of a receiver. The action was brought by Wm. A. Rust, who held a note on which judgment had been secured. The complaint alleges that various sums unknown are due from debtors of the company in various states and that the company owes $45,000.

Killed by the Cars.
Sewell, W. Va., Oct. 18.—Two colored men, names unknown, and the little girl of one of them, were attempting to board a west-bound train on the double track near Fire Creek, were struck by an east-bound train. One of the colored men lost both legs and an arm. He died. The other is not expected to live. The little girl's injuries are not expected to be serious.

Alabama Cotton Crop.
BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 18.—It is estimated that the frost which fell Sunday night and killed late cotton will cut off the already short crop fully ten per cent. in the counties in north and north Alabama. The crop was already twenty per cent short before frost came.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—It has been decided to follow the strict tenor of the act of congress and to close the fair on October 30, continuing the last formalities over until noon of October 31, and making the hour of closing to correspond with the hour of the opening.

"Blind Tiger" Murder.
MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 18.—Dr. W. B. Shumaker, a prominent citizen of Ackerman, has been shot five times and instantly killed by W. H. Heflin against whom he had preferred charges of keeping a "blind tiger." Heflin escaped.

Old Mexican Bank Stops.
CITY OF MEXICO, Oct. 18.—The banking house of Harro Forbes & Co., established half a century ago, has gone into liquidation prior to reorganization.

World's Fair Attendance.
MILWAUKEE, Oct. 18.—The attendance at the fair grounds, Oct. 15, was 208,423, of which 173,140 paid.
